Ljusdal is a locality and the seat of Ljusdal Municipality, Gävleborg County, Sweden with 6,230 inhabitants in 2010. The municipality was formed in 1971 by the amalgamation of the market town (köping) of Ljusdal (instituted in 1914) with the rural municipalities Järvsö, Färila, Los and Ramsjö.

Ljusdal is located beside the river Ljusna which goes from Bruksvallarna to the Gulf of Bothnia. Ljusdal is famous for have been hosting the annual Bandy World Cup in the sport of bandy from 1974 to 2008.

Three Hälsingland farmhouses situated in Ljusdal Municipality were inscribed in 2012 on the UNESCO list of World Heritage Sites.

Geographically the town is located on the shores of the Ljusna river, along the shores of which Sweden's Northern main line railway (Norra Stambanan) stretches. The municipality calls itself "Sweden's nearest Norrland", with Norrland being historically how Sweden's North was referred to. Geographically, the municipality is located at the center of Sweden.

In this large municipality (Sweden's 25th largest) there are several nature activities one can enjoy. Along the Ljusna there are a total of 40 kilometers of water ways, with possibilities for sailing, rafting, fishing or taking a tour with tour boats. Hamra National Park is also located partly within the Western parts of the municipality.
